"DON'T PUT THAT LAWN MOWER AWAY TOO SOON! Your lawn needs mowing just as long as it continues to grow in the fall," says Dominic A. Marini, of the Plymouth County Extension Service.

"It's an old fashioned idea," says Marini "to let lawn grass grow long in the fall and remain that way over winter. Ideally a lawn should be kept in such condition that no more than an inch of top growth is ever cut off at one time. Recent research has shown that it is harmful to cut off too much of the top at once.

"If, for some reason grass growth does get too far ahead of you, as happens sometimes in the best-managed households, then by all means remove the clippings after you mow. Loss of a large portion of its top growth plus being smothered by long clippings is enough to kill even well-established grasses.

"When the lawn is mowed often enough so that clippings average between a half inch and an inch, it is generally beneficial to allow the clippings to remain where they fall. As they decompose, they will add humus and help to maintain or improve the condition of the soil.

"Another good reason for keeping the lawn mowed in the fall," according to Dominic A. Marini, "is that tall grass provides a favorable place for insects and plant diseases to hibernate over winter."

MATTAPOISETT LIBRARY SIGN TORN DOWN AND TAKEN

It is hoped that the person who has taken the sign from the Library will think a little now and return it to its place. If you want something to do with your time why don't you enter the building and borrow a book. It is a privilege that is taken for granted now, but it is a rare one that we enjoy through the most fortunate accident of being born in this country. The sign itself is made in the form of an open book and was a gift to the library by a Mattapoisett craftsman. It performs a very useful function in identifying the library and giving its hours. The cost of painting such a sign is expensive and the money could be better used in purchasing books. Do yourself a favor. Return the sign.

THIEVES CAUGHT IN RIVERVIEW RESTAURANT

The wave of breaks into business establishments on Route 6 from Fairhaven to Wareham may be near solution as thieves were caught in the act of robbing the Riverview Restaurant at the Weweantic River on Route 6 in Wareham. The Marion cruiser, manned by two officers, were on a routine check along the highway, and as they swung into the Riverview restaurant drive their headlamps picked out a thief inside the building in the act of breaking into the juke box and cigarette machine. Fortunately the police were able to cover both the front and back of the building since there were two of them and the intruder was cut off and taken into custody. The thief is a serviceman and was wearing gloves. An alleged accomplice was also inside the restaurant. This man is also a scrviceman stationed at

SOME THOUGHTS OF MINE

Murray R. Tuttle

When the sun goes down at each days end
and we look back at the hours we spend.
Whether in work or whether in play,
did we spend in profit the hours of day?

What do we profit, you want to know.
It's the kind of a profit that makes us grow.
It's knowledge and virtue in this life,
in a world that seems so full of strife.

The man, who only slaves for gold,
will never have friends that he can hold.
They'll look at him in pain and sorrow.
He'll be forgotten on the morrow.

We may not always, in what we do,
succeed in life as we pass through.
But the mistakes we make, as we pass along,
should have a tendency to make us strong.

For it's by mistakes we learn and grow
to bigger things as they come and go.
They keep us on the jump all day.
Trying to drive the mistakes away.

Mistakes should speed our effort to live.
Regardless of the hours we give.
For success comes only to those who strive in thought and work, which keeps us alive.

NANTUCKET COVER

Visitors to the island will recognize the scene on this week's cover, painted by D. Jason. The people who are taking up painting have expressed interest in the covers from time to time. They are painted with a combination of pen and ink and black water color. By using these mediums, good reproduction is sure as the values are all in black and white. Sketches done in this way are a good start for a painting in color as the all important values are worked out in a simple manner. In addition, although the scene will be readily recognized by anyone familiar with it, all of the buildings and other elements of the picture have been changed slightly to make a more pleasing design. The is one of the great advantages that the artist has over the photographer.

The cover last week was taken at the New

FROM THE LOG OF THE WHALESHIP CHARLESTON BY DANIEL A. BALDWIN. ON THE VOYAGE FROM JUNE 28, 1844 TO MARCH 9, 1847

May 4th. Monday begins with a gale from NNE and the snow a flying so thick that we can hardly see the length of the ship. This morning our ship presents a gloomy aspect. Her decks, spars, rigging and c loaded with snow and the air full descending. And the wail of the storm as it passes through space makes a sad and unpleasant scene. At 6 P.M. our decks and rigging is covered with snow and ice and the wind screams from NW by N and we have occasionally a dark heavy snow squall that hovers oer us like an evil spirit. The snow fell heavy for 30 hours, then it came in squalls. Today the barometer stands at 29¾ inches.

May 5th. Tuesday the gale continues accompanied by snow squalls. The wind is W N W and the sea in wild commotion. Water has congealed on deck for the last 24 hours. Evry place above deck wears the appearance of winter. No observation.

May 6th. Wednesday the wind hauls round S W by S and blows strong all day. We find very coarse whaling. We saw 3 right whales. They were all a going fast, some N E and some S W. We lowered twice and did not get fast. It seems as if some Evil Genius was perfected to fashion our destinies. Today we have a verry little pale sickly sunshine.

May 7th. Thursday we have plenty of rain and a heavy gale from the South which lasts till 6 P.M. when the wind hauls to the west and more moderate. We hoist our boats up to the davit heads notwithstanding the ship rolled them into the water. The sea today is in wild commotion. The ship trembles like an aspen. No observation.

May 8th. Friday the wind veers from W to Sw by S and blows strong with thick fog except 4 hours in the afternoon. Our rigging is froze and loaded with ice. The fog freezes as it comes. We saw two Humpbacks at 2 P.M. We likewise saw a seal. He had just caught a fish. It was amusing to see him play with it. Observations not verry good.

May 9th. Saturday the first part of this day there is fresh gales from S W, the latter part is nearly calm. We speak the Bark NEWBURYPORT of Stonington, Capt. Gray, with nothing this seasen. He has his wife and child with him. I saw the little fellow's head at the cabin window as she ran down across our stern. We had a gam with her. We saw no right whales today.

May 10th, Sunday. This day begins with fine rain and mist. We can see about 1½ miles. At 7 A.M. we saw Capt. Gray lying aback and 3 boats down after a whale. We lowered our Boats. The whale came up near their boats. They struck him and killed him. We stood off and made a tack back again and saw the NEWBURYPORT a cutting, then bore away to the Southward and Westward. It comes in thick fog. At noon the wind hauls to the westward and it clears up a little at 3 P.M. At 4 we saw a humpback.

May 11th. Monday we have moderate gales from S, first part with rain, latter part strong gales from W S W with some fog. We saw 6 whales but did not strike any. Our jib sheet got loose and split. We took it in and repaired it and bent it again.

May 12th. Tuesday we have a gale from W S W with squalls of snow. Last night ice froze on the Scuttle Butt. The weather is like winter and the wind howls wildly.
